

Jeremy Panasuk

The deployment layer. I embed in client environments and make agents work against data that was never prepared for them.

You wrote a job for the person who makes the promise real. That is the only work I have done for twenty years — Informatica’s parachute closer, then the same playbook on a private RTX 4070 agent stack that measures. Clients asked for me by name. I go in alone and come back with something that runs.

01 — FORGE • LATTICE • STRATUM

AGENT FRAMEWORK Forge OpenClaw WhatsApp agents, 10+ skills. Multi-agent pipeline (systems → architect → validator) on local Ollama. Dockroot-MCP: agents see Docker/network, not host-root.	FLEET ORCHESTRATION Lattice World-first Informatica Grid/HA + DR, 20+ nodes, four regions. local_grid_suite: SQLite benches, GPU routing, CLI + PDF. Measured ~27× decode vs CPU baseline.	SEMANTIC INTELLIGENCE Stratum Ameriprise IDQ / EDC / Axon. Type 2 warehouse at Dawn. FDA-validated platform at Smith & Nephew. Vocabulary in the tables vs vocabulary in the heads.

02 — INDEPENDENT LAB • AUG 2024 — PRESENT

4070 Tabby Tavern Stack Containerized private LLM on RTX 4070 / WSL2: TabbyAPI EXL3, Ollama, Open WebUI, CUDA, flash-attention, q8 KV. huggingface.co/jpanasuk/tabby-tavern-stack	27× Local Grid Suite Model discovery, decode/prefill benches, GPU routing, SQLite logs. Checked-in: 1.39 → 37.47 tok/s after routing. Warm stream ~76 tok/s.
MCP Dockroot-MCP Bounded agent visibility into Docker and network wiring. Same Grid/HA instinct: measure the boundary, then hand the agent the boundary — not the box.	Agents OpenClaw + pipeline Production WhatsApp agents. Structured output, repair retries, collision checks. Multi-provider routing with cloud failover so one surface covers local and hosted models.

Also retained through 2025 for Informatica production rescue: Grid/HA, PowerExchange CDC, IDQ, v9/v10, SOAP/REST, SOW/sizing, install-to-go-live. Available remote. High-autonomy teams only.

WHY THIS LIFE, THIS JOB I just came off two years of laydown. Not idle — a rebuild. I stood up a private GPU lab, measured it, published it, and set one goal: use the new stack to help land the AI revolution in rooms that still run on unprepared data.
THE REBUILD Off the corporate conveyor on purpose. Two years to retool: agents, bounded MCP, local inference that reports numbers, not slides. The same diagnostic playbook as Informatica, now aimed at Forge / Lattice / Stratum.	THE SITUATION Remote from Wisconsin. No dual-career relocation theater. High autonomy. I can embed in a client environment, stay through production, and still be the person who comes back with a playbook.	THE WINDOW You need someone who can go in alone now, while the enterprise motion is being built. I am available, current, and not splitting attention with a job I am trying to leave. This is the fit.
